CHURCH WRANGLECongregation Declares Rev. Pogue's Methods Unsatisfactory

Not for a long time has the Cincinnati Presbytery been so disturbed as it was Tuesday at a meeting of that body, regarding the report of a committee that affairs at the Fifth Presbyterian Church in that city were in a chaotic and deplorable condition.

This report developed from a petition submitted by members of the congregation protesting against the methods pursued by their pastor, Rev. James W. Pogue.

They claimed his methods are antagonistic to the welfare of the Church and asked that the Presbytery take up the matter and provide a remedy.

After some discussion it was recommended that an Ecclesiastical Court at once investigate the trouble and do as it sees fit for the good and harmony of the Church.

The Rev. Mr. Pogue says he has often consulted the session of the Church in his administration, and it never has found fault with him, therefore he will continue his methods, regardless of the protest.

GOLDEN WEDDINGAnniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey Rice Happily Observed

Monday, September 19th, at their home near Wedonia, Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey Rice celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

While friends and relatives passed to and fro, partaking of the good things prepared for their entertainment, an orchestra discoursed sweet strains of spirit cheering music. Of several hundred persons who were present there was not one who did not seem to catch the spirit of the hour, and mirth and gladness reigned.

On entering the house, visitors met first little Miss Judith Osborne Lloyd, one of the great-grandchildren, who presided at the register, holding a gold pen in readiness for new arrivals; and many took advantage of the opportunity to record their names in the "Golden Book."

Guests were then ushered into a room, where, beneath a golden bell adorned with Bride Roses, sat the venerable couple. The groom, though 63 years of age, would, when he thought of no one watching, steal sly glances at his bride of 63 summers, and many a coy smile he got as a reward for his boldness.

"Thou won the bride, the wooing endeth not Nor are Love's scenes of other days forgot."

On their left sat the bride's maid of fifty years ago, Mrs. Katherine Preston Bullock, who, in her bright and cheerful manner and youthful looks, impressed one with the truth of the saying that she was 85 years young, and only a few of those present were accorded the rare privilege of kissing the bride and her maid.

Through a doorway, arched with goldenrod artistically arranged and held in place by bows of the same color, visitors passed to where Miss Linda Crooks, Rice Worthington and Frank Rice dispensed frappe and added life to the event by happy smiles and mirth-provoking sallies of wit and humor. There also were to be seen the many remembrances of loving friends, and while admiring these beautiful gifts so tastefully displayed, one was reminded of the fact that this devoted couple had waited fifty years before receiving any bridal presents.

It was while good 'Squire Shelton of Aberdeen helped devoted children outwit their dotting parents and over zealous friends that Judith Amanda Cooke and James Harvey Rice eloped to the famous Gretna Green over the river and were joined in the bonds of happy wedlock. The wintry storms of half a century have assailed this union of hearts and interests, but their chilling stings have been healed by the smiles and kisses of as many summers, and today their love, once sparkling and vivacious, has ripened into the golden fruit of mature affection.

In the room where refreshments of various kinds were served festoons of goldenrod and yellow asters gave forth their mild fragrance, and the mellow light of golden tapers clothed everything in an indescribable halo of sober beauty that intensified the tremulous anxiety of dashing youth and maiden fair as they read their future in the piece of wedding cake which fell to their lot. One by one the fifty tapers, which lighted up this cake, disappeared as the young folks cut for weal or woe; and it is remarkable that nearly all the venturesome swains who so tempted the oracle

Read a happy omen whatever fell Believing that the Fates do all things well, so proving themselves the equals of invincible Alexander.

Mrs. J. W. Stevenson of Lexington, Mrs. John Harbison, Miss Mary Alice Neal, the Misses Roser and Mrs. Achsah Branch assisted the family in looking after the crowd, and many of the most charming features of the event were due to their tireless efforts.

Of the thirteen children, Thomas Jefferson, William Harvey, Miss Ethel Agnes and Mrs. D. E. Bullock of this county; Mrs. W. M. Walker, Mrs. R. H. Stevenson and Frank Holman of Lexington; John Young of Honston, Texas, and Salem Jewell of Ashland were present.

Of eighteen grandchildren, thirteen took part in the celebration, and also one of two great-grandchildren.

As a fitting close to this happy scene, the nine living children gathered in a circle to receive a parental blessing. Four breaks in the line showed where belonged those who have passed to the realm of Shades, and the burden of the father's prayer was that the circle, unbroken, might at last assemble in the land of eternal sunshine and gladness ever more to celebrate the reunion of loving hearts.

Our friends the Democrats know how to reach the voters by placing their announcements in THE LEDGER.

THE Democratic Primary is not yet a week old, and there are already 'steen candidates in the open; but by the time it's old enough to get shaved, won't it be a warm tamale?

ONE of the serious charges preferred by the Democrats against ROOSEVELT is that he is managing his own campaign. This is much better than trusting it to the mismanagement of others.

AND all we know yet about Judge PARKER's financial views is that he voted twice for Free Silver and now admits the sound currency standard has been firmly fixed by Republican legislation.

JUDGE PARKER intimates that the existing Anti-Trust Laws are sufficient, yet when the Democratic party was in power the Sherman Law was derided as a farce and no attempt made to secure its enforcement, although the Trusts flourished then as never before or since.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN had a terse way of putting things. He said he believed in Protection because under a Freetrade system when his wife bought a cloak for $20 the chances were that she got the cloak and some foreigner got the $20, but under Protection he was certain that his wife got the cloak and that the $20 stays here in America.

CHAIRMAN S. W. HAGER and Secretary PERCY HALEY of the Democratic State Campaign Committee have officially proclaimed the opening of the Democratic campaign in Kentucky. The event will occur on October 3d, and the oratorical diarrhea will break out simultaneously in twenty towns. Fortunately, Maysville has been spared from the first attack.

IN the Franklin Circuit Court Judge CARROLL decided that the State Auditor cannot remove the State Auditor's Agents until their four-year terms are out, except for legitimate cause. The suit was by State Agent LUCAS to compel Auditor HAGER to approve his bond, which must be renewed annually. LUCAS was appointed by former Auditor COULTER for a four-year term, and Auditor HAGER sought to name his successor. The case will be appealed.

Political Pickings

PUBLIC EXTRAVAGANCE.

Louisville Evening Post.

In comparative extravagance consider these figures:

	Cleveland's First Term.
1885	$260,000,000
1886	242,000,000
1887	267,000,000
1888	268,000,000
Four years	$1,037,000,000
Average	$259,250,000

Turn now over the four intervening years and come to Cleveland's Second Term.

1893	$383,000,000
1894	368,000,000
1895	356,000,000
1896	352,000,000
Four years	$1,459,000,000
Average	$364,750,000

Here is in the second term an increase in expenses of $106,000,000 annually, or for his four years, and those years of peace, a total increase of $425,000,000.

In the intervening term of Harrison the expenses were $318,000,000 on the average.

So we see that what Mr. Roosevelt says about public expenditures increasing because the work done by the Government for the public steadily increases is true.

Making Stock Pay

Most people who have stock know that keeping it in good condition is money in their pockets. Condition powders are widely used—often with poor results. The ordinary kinds are an odd mixture of good and bad—gotten up in the "hit-or-miss" fashion. SAID $1 A DAY ENOUGH

Judge Parker's Neighbors Tell Story That He Made This Statement Two Years Ago.

Political Workers in Ulster County Say the Democratic Candidate Won't Win His District.

(Esopus dispatch in New York Globe, Sept. 9.)

There is a good deal of talk in Ulster county to the effect that Judge Parker will not be able to carry his own district despite his great personal popularity and the natural pride his neighbors feel in having a presidential candidate among them. The Republican leaders are working tooth and nail to roll up a good majority, and in the last week they have been making much use of a story going the rounds about the judge's views on the subject of wages. In substance it is nothing more than that he remarked two years ago that an unskilled laborer was entitled to $1 a day and no more.

The amount of gossip started by this revival of an offhand contribution to economic discussion in a corner grocery store is indicative of rural sentiment, and the precise details with which the story is embellished in its campaign garb show the importance attached to it by the bucolic managers of the campaign in this part of the world.

Here is the form in which the story is given:

"I think that a dollar a day is enough for any man provided that his work is steady. Any man can live on that, and that is all unskilled labor is worth. I am sorry I have to pay more than that and wouldn't if we had a better supply of labor hereabouts."

This statement was made by Judge Parker in Emory Freer's store one Saturday morning about two years ago and made an impression on those that heard it from him directly and on those that heard it from others that has not yet died out. The remark was called forth by a discussion in Freer's store. Freer is the groceryman, dry goods man and general merchant of the village, and his store, which is on the corner of the main street, is the gathering place for the men hereabouts to exchange news, gossip and political views. On the day in question a crowd of men was there. There were Emory Freer, Sam E. Mott, who runs the butcher shop and livery stable; Lew Booth, the barber; Carl Wismer, who is now a baggage handler in the West Shore station in Kingston, and several farmers from the vicinity who were in the village for their Saturday trading.

The topic was the scarcity of labor in the township and the high wages that were being paid, unskilled labor getting at times as high as $1.00 a day. While the talk was going on Judge Parker happened in, and appeal was made to him immediately. He answered without hesitation that a dollar a day was enough for any man.

The talk immediately rose to a high pitch of excitement. Everybody in the store took a hand in it, and none agreed with Judge Parker. Even the farmers, who in that part of the country are a very thrifty class, could not accept such a proposition. A dollar and a quarter a day was the bottom price for day labor. The judge stayed some time in the store, listening to the talk and taking considerable part in it, but no arguments were able to move him from his belief that a dollar was all that a day's labor was worth, with the further statement that he never paid more than that if he could help it, which was often the case.

Mr. Wismer, who was one of those present, says of the incident: "I remember it as plainly as if it was yesterday. It was in Freer's store. Emory Freer was there, Lew Booth, the barber, and Butcher Mott. Those men, I remember, were there, and there were others, farmers.

"It made a lot of talk at the time, because we liked and admired Judge Parker, and we were surprised to hear him say such a thing, and a lot of people around Esopus have held it up against him. Everybody is remembering it now. The judge is a fine man, but he is way off on that proposition."

In referring to the amputation of the Beechcraft boy's leg in Tuesday's issue of THE LEDGER an erroneous impression was made which might do Dr. Taulbee an injustice. The case was one of gangrene due to obstruction of the femoral artery, and not due to poison, as the boy impressed The Ledger scribe. Dr. Taulbee performed the operation for the late Dr. Heaton, whose patient the lad was, and the fact that his life was saved is almost a mystery, since the great majority die. Dr. Pickett, Dr. Heaton and Dr. Harover were present and assisted in this operation.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES.

The Cumberland (Md.) News of Thursday, September 22, says: "One of the most pleasing and entertaining attractions ever booked at the Academy of Music was that of the Lyman H. Howe's Moving Pictures. Howe is the pioneer and peer of moving picture exhibitors, as his performance indicated. The pictures were new, novel and unusually distinct. The real feature of the program was the pictures entitled, 'The Making of a Newspaper,' showing in every detail the several evolutions required to place a great metropolitan daily in the hands of the reading public. The editorial rooms, the busy reporters, the noisy linotypes, the making up of the forms, the big presses and the newsboys were pictured as true as life. The pictures of scenes from the Japanese-Russian War were also of the best." All new pictures will be shown at the Washington Friday night and this attraction should have a big house, as it is always one of the best seen in the city. Tickets now on sale at Ray's.

ROW AT LEXINGTON

Officials of the Tobacco Association Charged With Bad Faith

A dispatch from Lexington says an awful row took place at a hotel in that city Tuesday afternoon between W. B. Hawkins, Oliver Jenkins and the McChord brothers, all interested in the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association. Friends interfered before the belligerents carried out their threats to annihilate each other.

According to bystanders Colonel Jenkins charged the McChords and General Hawkins with bad faith in effecting arrangements with the Louisville market to handle the 1904 Burley tobacco crop.

Jenkins insists there ought to be an equal division of the receipts between Cincinnati and Louisville of the coming crop.

It is understood Hawkins and the McChords have indicated a desire for peace, and with this end in view Mr. Jenkins and other interests in the Growers' Association will consult in a few days with the Cincinnati Moguls, who are evidently much depressed at the possibility of being frozen out on the new crop.

A MEDICAL REBELLION IN KENTUCKY.

The subscribed regular physicians agree to form an old code medical association. We agree to abide by, and we re-affirm the code of ethics as adopted by the American Medical Association in 1847, unamended and unrevoked, and we agree to be guided by this code and the Hippocratic oath in our daily conduct.

We believe the regular profession has a proud and honorable heritage which we shall endeavor to preserve in its purity and dignity, and we believe no other than the regular profession has such a heritage. We cannot accept (nor do we believe any conscientious regular physician not blinded by the almighty dollar can accept) membership in a county, state or National Association which compels us to throw away this heritage, to forget our teachings, and to associate on equal terms with whosoever our legislators may determine to be legally qualified to practice medicine in our state.

We believe the action of the American Medical Association in allowing the affiliation of all legally qualified physicians was prompted by the commercialism of specialists, and is the direct result of their greed; that it was done to enlarge the consultation field; that it is a step toward making a trade of what we have fondly looked upon as a profession; that it is a concession of honor, a confession that the regular profession has been wrong for over half a century; that it is the sale of a birthright for a mess of pottage.

We believe that specialists began this degradation in the new code movement of 1882, and that it has culminated in the humiliating position the regular profession is now placed, the present organization compelling the fellowship of all legally qualified physicians, with membership in the American Medical Association used as a means of compulsion, as a whip.

Miss Dora Martin and Mrs. L. F. Humphries were in Flemingsburg Saturday.

"Loveland," the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Martin, was the scene of much gaiety Sunday, September 18th, that being Mr. Martin's 77th birthday anniversary. At 8 o'clock the children, grandchildren and great grandchildren began to arrive, and by 10 o'clock 54 had greeted the venerable gentleman with good wishes for many happy returns of the day. The morning hours were spent in pleasant chat and enjoyment of the big swing and hammocks by the bery of children. At 12 o'clock dinner was announced; and, Oh! the feast that met our gaze as we passed out under the glorious old apple trees to where the tables were spread in true picnic style. Fried chicken—till there seemed no end to it—salads, jellies, pies, cakes, custard, grapes and flowers! flowers everywhere. After all had done full justice to the dinner, the little ones resumed their play and the older ones spent a pleasant two hours around the organ singing hymns, both old and new, and when at last the party was forced to break up all went home fervently hoping that the same pleasant scene would be enacted next year.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF.

Which is Better—Try An Experiment or Profit By a Maysville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is. Now suppose you had a bad back—A lame, weak or aching one. Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures, endorsed by strangers from far away places. It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case:

Mr. Fred W. Baner, job printer of No. 4 East Second street, says:

"For a year or more I had considerable pain in my back. The secretions from the kidneys were dark and there was some inflammation of the bladder, evidenced by a sensation of scalding. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my knowledge and I procured them at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, corner of West Second and Market streets. The treatment soon restored the kidney secretions to a natural color, ended the inflammation and banished the pain from my back. If a cold or any other cause should bring on a recurrence I now know what to use."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box.
